their statements when we boast of their practical utility.

It increases the product of the gin.

It lessens the required power by giving a regular supply to the gin.

It makes a better cotton by the same gin.

It saves the saws of the gin by preventing atones, nails, fron, and other hard substances from going into the breast of the gin.

It keeps the roll from breaking and thereby napping or gin-culting the cotton if properly adjusted. adjusted.

It works automatically in connection with the gin, and saves hand-labor of the ginner, so difficult to control, and beats him, every time, in quantity and quality.

It is guaranteed to perform all we have claimed for it, and It is the only cotton-ginner—by buying one.
